With Space_ out of /leftpol/ I'm more than happy to make threads over there once again but now I have the issue of what place should I nurture, /leftpol/, /netcom/ or red planet?
I just feel making the same thread on all 3 places will be really phony.

1. Netcom is only an archive at this point.
  2. Leftpol has lost over half its regular users in the past month, and frankly I think 8chan isn't worth building a community on anyway.
  3. Red Planet has lost a lot of momentum but I think it's still a worthwhile project.

Nah, we're just in a period of regrouping. I vote for focusing on Red Planet.

Also, you should put a link to Red Planet on /leftpol/ so people can find this place.

Also I try making a new thread on /leftpol/ or something.

As I have said, I will keep this place running, at least from the technical side, indefinitely.
